Republican Primaries To-day.

This afternoon the Republican primaries will be held in Ohio county. The call, published in to-day's INTELLIGENCER, tells where the voting places are. Everybody who intends to support the Republican ticket should go to the polls to-day and express his preference.

If this be done the result of the primary voting will show what it should show, the will of the majority of the party. This also is the way to secure the best men, for in matters of this kind the majority is likely to make the best selection. Everything is in the Republican favor this year, yet it must be remembered that these nominations are to be made in a Democratic county.

If the men voted for to-day and the delegates chosen to select nominees in the later conventions be the best the Republican party can put forward, Ohio county will ratify the choice at the polls.

The idea has gone out that any Republican can be elected this year. If the nominations be made on this absurd theory the result will be disappointment all along the line.

The INTELLIGENCER does not believe that the Republicans of Ohio county will go at this important business in so foolish a way. They will rather seek the best and try to place before the people men who have the confidence of their neighbors, and who will be recognized as fit for the places for which they shall be named.

Let us have a full vote and discriminating voting. This is the way to open a victorious campaign.

Ohio county Republicans have the chance to-day to start the ball a-rolling for a splendid victory in November.

One Man's Great Work.

From time to time good people have objected to Rev. Dr. Parkhurst's methods, which they thought indelicate and far beneath the dignity of his calling. By this time these same people approve highly his results.

The indignation of the people of a great city is not easily aroused against their rulers, nor is it easier to stimulate their civic pride or to start them in a campaign to regain the stolen control of their affairs.

Newspapers and public men of New York had for years been telling the people that they were ruled by ignorance and vice. They were told in a general way and they believed in a general way, but they were not aroused to the point of action.

Dr. Parkhurst got down to details. He had to wade through filth to get there, but he did get there. Whatever was thought of his methods, nobody doubted his word. That which he said he had seen people believed to exist. This was a great point gained. Then the people came to give more credit to the report of Dr. Parkhurst's agents.

Then came the appointment of a committee of the state senate to investigate. Governor Flower voted a bill to provide money to conduct the investigation, but by this time the curiosity was as well as the interest of the people was aroused, and private citizens supplied the money which the beneficiary of Tammany had withheld.

Since that committee began its work there has not been a day when Dr. Parkhurst, methods and all, has not been vindicated in the evidence of the shameless doings of the police department. This one man has done for New York a work which should make his name immortal. The rest is with the people.

Hill's designation of Populist Senator Allen as the Democratic leader in the senate hits the rest of them below the belt and hits them hard.

Senator Vest wants to reach down a little lower and catch incomes of $3,000. Once the income tax is fastened on the country as a scheme of taxation in time of peace the bars will be set lower and lower until incomes much less than $3,000 will be included.

Earnest activity in the matter of nominations is altogether creditable, but don't let it be "pernicious." We want no family jars among Republicans this year. Go it strong for your favorite, but don't say ugly things about anybody. After the nomination comes the election.

A Foreign Labor Invasion.

The Huns and Italians who are disturbing the peace in the mining region of Jefferson county, Pennsylvania, are not citizens and not likely to become citizens. They have no idea of the meaning of freedom, which they suppose to be every man's right to do as he pleases and to break the head of anybody who pleases to do something else. In other words, their idea of liberty is anarchy.

These rioters do not agree with their employers, and will destroy their property if they can. They do not agree with the English-speaking miners who wish to work, and these they have given to understand that to work means to be killed. Not satisfied with this, they have compelled unwilling men to join them under penalty of death or torture.

So far as the numbers go, and to the extent of their lawless demonstration, these men represent a foreign invasion of an American state and of the rights of American citizens. How they can command the sympathy of any American citizen is beyond comprehension. A movement to get them and their kind out of the country at any price and to keep them out by legislation would be more entitled to sympathy.

The governor of Pennsylvania has called out the troops to put down this riot, and it will be put down. But this will not be enough. Every man who has taken part in this riot should be taught that while this is a land of liberty it is not a land of anarchy.

To teach this wholesome lesson it will be necessary to do nothing more than the law requires to be done in such cases. One of the mistakes made in dealing with riots has been to stop after they were put down, instead of punishing everybody who had anything to do with them.

REPUBLICANS of Ohio county, get out to the primaries to-day and express your choice through the ballot box. This is the way to get good nominations.

A Striking Admission.

The Register makes the peculiar boast that it was represented at Fairmont by "a mere boy, a calf which had wandered out of its own pasture," while the INTELLIGENCER had "four times the Register's force on the ground, with all the keenness of perception, maturity of judgment and facility of expression acquired by the representatives of the INTELLIGENCER in the course of a newspaper career of a score of years or more."

This sets forth with much more truthfulness than is customary with the Register the comparative intellectual equipment of the two newspapers. It may also explain why the Register is notoriously incapable of telling the truth about anything and anybody on the Republican side of the great political divide.

An INTELLIGENCER report of a Democratic gathering is a truthful report, so accepted by Democrats. The Register cannot do that much by a Democratic gathering if it sees a factional reason for misrepresenting.

No Republican expects a truthful account in the Register of any meeting Republicans may have from a crossroads gathering to a state convention. The policy of that establishment is, "We can't afford it," and this is the poison it instills into "its mere boys." It is bad for the boys. They should have the opportunity of better training.

The Concord Watchman, published at Concord Church, Mercer county, by W. C. Hedrick and B. C. Bangs, is a new journalistic venture that has come to join the Republican press of West Virginia. It begins well, and the INTELLIGENCER wishes it a full measure of success. It is a pleasure to note the growth of the Republican press in this state.

Men who have heretofore voted some other ticket and now intend to cast their ballots on the Republican side will be welcomed at the Republican primaries this afternoon.

Yesterday Senator Call startled the senate by displaying his foot. Every day some senator produces the same effect by showing his ears.

Hill has punched so many holes in the Democratic tariff project that Republicans need hardly bother themselves further about it.

Anonimous plot to blow up the czar of Russia has been discovered. The czar is blown up so often that he is used to it.

Don't stay away from the polls and don't complain of the nominations. Go there and have a hand in making them.

If you are going to support the Republican ticket go to the polls this afternoon and express your choice.

What has become of Mr. Cleveland's leadership of his party? Perhaps he has used it for fish bait.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Ex-Judge Botkin, who attracted attention three years ago by holding court in Stevens county, Kas., with a loaded Winchester on the bench beside him, and who formerly absorbed as much as ten ounces of whiskey at a time without giving visible signs thereof, has become a zealous temperance exponent, and is persuading hundreds to sign the pledge.

Chicago pioneers have erected a flag over the almost forgotten grave of David Kennison, a leader of the members of the Boston "Tub Party." She—What a lovely rose! What would it be if I asked you to give it to me? He—I would say it was like your cheeks.—Tit-Bits.

That Bold Question.

If the legislature of West Virginia should appoint a conference commission, it by implication admits that we owe a part of West Virginia's debt. Appoint no commission, let Virginia settle her own trouble with her own bond holders. Recognize no syndicate, or the commission appointed by syndicate influence. The question in its present shape must be entirely ignored. To merit recognition it must assume an entirely different phase. West Virginia owes no debt, has no bonds and asks no favors.

The Rebel Spy.

One of Martinsburg's best known ladies, who was a friend, in childhood, of Belle Bord, who has lately achieved considerable notoriety as the "Rebel spy," was surprised this week to receive a letter from her old acquaintance, who is now a conspicuous figure on the lecture platforms of the east and north. She has lately married for the third time and is now residing with her husband and three children at Centerville, Md. Her wartime experiences were all in this region and she is well known here, having lived for years in this city.

CAPT. DANFORD'S NOMINATION.

It Takes Well in the District Over the River and Elsewhere.

The news of the nomination of Capt. Lorenzo Danford in the district just over the river, has excited the most favorable comment, not only in the district, but from the papers in other parts of the state. The Carroll Republican, at the home of Judge Taylor, one of the candidates, says he should run ahead of his ticket and that Carroll county will give him about a thousand majority. The Cadiz Republican, at the home of the brilliant General Hollingsworth, another contestant, says "Lion. Lorenzo Danford's experience will make him stronger than ever in the present contest. His course in the convention was strictly honorable, and as to his age, William E. Gladstone was still the British premier at eighty-three, and Danford appears to be good for at least twenty years yet." The Monroe Gazette says: "The victor's laurels were gracefully and honorably won by that illustrious lawyer, peerless statesman and eloquent orator, Capt. Lorenzo Danford, of St. Clairsville, whose ability and integrity have made him one of the most famous characters in the great state of Ohio." The Steubenville Herald and the Star, in Jefferson county, both highly commend Capt. Danford's candidacy since their choice, Mr. J. J. Gill, could not win, and the Noble county Republican says: "Capt. Danford is an old Republican wheel horse, and it goes without saying that he will represent the district with fidelity and signal ability. Were Noble county in the old district he could count upon a solid Republican vote." The Zanesville Courier says: "Capt. Lorenzo Danford, the Republican nominee for Congress in the sixteenth district, was one of the ablest of the Ohio delegation when he was a member of the house in the 70's. He is eloquent, a fine lawyer, a man of the people, an enthusiastic and earnest Buckeye and American. He is a hard worker, a good fighter and never pants." The larger city papers also comment favorably upon the captain's return to politics, and the old Sixteenth Ohio district is gathering again some of its old-time reputation as one of the important districts in the country.

 Change in Three Days.
 Cure in Two Weeks.

Our ten months' old baby had a very bad case of eczema, and after having doctored six or seven weeks, instead of getting better, appeared to be worse. His forehead, cheeks, and top of head were literally covered with scabs one eighth of an inch thick, and he could bear this sight no longer, we were willing to try almost anything that we had heard of. Having read a testimonial of CUTICURA REMEDIES, we decided to give them a trial. The doctor for some time had been telling us to use CUTICURA, completely spreading it where he was sore, and washing it with the CUTICURA SOAP several times a day. At the same time we gave him CUTICURA RESOLVER three times a day. After having attended him for two weeks, his face was as clear as any child's could be. He is now as clean of them as he ever was. We can hardly find words to express our most heartfelt thanks.
